Race Between Three.

Between Cornell, Syracuse and Pennsylvania the race was stiff throughout.
After two of the four miles of the course had been covered Syracuse spurted to almost even terms with Cornell. Doggedly they tried to hold level with the Ithacans, and it was this early struggle that caused them to fail just at the last moment when Pennsylvania last. In the four-oared race, won by Cornell, the start.

The first race of the afternoon was for 'varsity four-oared shells at two miles. It was simply a question as to the distance by which the Ithacans would win. They crossed the line with five lengths to spare. Syracuse was three lengths before Columbia, which in turn was four lengths in front of Pennsylvania.

sity eights aroused wonderful enthusiasm. Columbia, Syracuse and Wisconsin were first away, with the others laggards by only a few feet. When a half-mile had only a few feet. When a half-mile had been rowed, Syracuse was showing a good length in the lead. with Columbia second, Wisconsin third, Cornell fourth, Pennsylvania fifth and Georgetown sixth. Soon after this the Georgetown sixth. Soon after this the Georgetown boat spurted into fourth place, but fell away again quickly and was never again a factor. Columbia and Wisconsin found the pace too fast at the end of the mile. Cornell swept into the lead at the mile and a half mark; Pennsylvania had raced up to second place and Syracuse was third. Then came a magnificent spurt by the Syracuse men. They rapidly overhauled Pennsylvania and closed the gap of nearly two lengths which had separated them from Cornell. The latter crew was rowing at 32, while Syracuse went to 35.

Coxswain Calls for Spurt.

When the orange boat pushed alongside the red and white shell the coxswain in the latter called for a spurt, and the Cornell boat slipped into the lead again. The final fine after time, with brilliant bursts of speed, Syracuse struggled to overhaul the leaders, and it was not until the last fille of the journey that Cornell could show clear water. Then Syracuse had shot her bolt, and the Pennsylvania crew, pulling with grim determination, snatched away the honor of second place by inches.

The race was so hard that several of the men collapsed. They were quickly revived, however, and each crew was able to row to its boathouse.

Trans-Mississippi - Championship Is Captured by Dark Horse From Minnesota.

Omaha. June 23 .- The sixth annual tournament of the trans-Mississippi Gold association closed this afternoon with the playing of the finals in the championship and other contests.

'Jaffray of Minneapolis was declared the winner, 5 up and 4 to play, defeating T. W. McCartney of Denver. The championship match play was full of surprises from very first. Men who had made such records as to entitle them to first consideration fell early in the game becomes the surprise of The downpour of rain which preceded the 'varsity race drenched the 20,000 persons gathered along the shores of the river and on the observation train. But from very first. Men who had made such records as to entitle them to first consideration fell early in the game before men whose former work had not been in the championship class at all. Nevertheless the men who stayed till the last did by superior play and there are none to question their right to their tention of entering.

The final of 36 holes was played between Mr. Jaffray and T. W. McCartney of Denver. The latter though not formerly supposed to be in the championship class, had played a steady game throughout the tournament and was thought to have a good advantage in today's game. The start served to justify this opinion for when the holes had been played he was 3 up on his opponent. From that time, however, the Minneapolis man began to show his qualities. At the end of 18 holes' play Mr. Cartney was only I up. In the afternoon Jaffray gained steadily, taking the third, fifth, ninth, eleventh, twelfth and fourteenth holes, at which time he was declared
